

House Balks at Raises for Prosecutors

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The question of raises for prosecuting attorneys postponed the general appropriations bill in the Arkansas House today.

Objections to these proposed raises led to defeat of the bill in the Senate last week. A bill by the Joint Budget Committee would give prosecutors raises ranging from $2,200 to $3,600 annually.

The general appropriations bill, which includes funds for all constitutional offices, was introduced in the House after it failed to pass in the Senate.

The House went into Committee of the Whole to consider the bill. The proceedings were relatively quiet until the action on prosecuting attorneys came up for discussion.

Chicago Rep. Ben Bynum promptly offered an amendment which would prohibit prosecutors from private practice of law if the increases are granted.

After several representatives had spoken for and against the amendment, Bynum moved adoption.

Garland Rep. Ray Smith Jr. offered a substitute motion that action on the bill be deferred until 11 a. m. tomorrow. After considerable discussion, Smith's motion carried on a voice vote. There was no vote on the proposed amendment.

Bynum said the proposed salary increases would put prosecutors in a pay range equivalent to circuit and chancery judges, who are not permitted to have private practice.

The increases would peg prosecutors in larger districts at $10,500 per year, those in second-class districts at $9,600; third class, $8,400, and fourth class, $7,200.

Census Workers Prepare for 1960

WASHINGTON (AP)—About 200,000 workers will take the census for 1960. Rep. John J. McMill (D-Calif.) thinks that its a good opportunity for people over 40 years of age. He has urged the Census Bureau to give special priority to them when hiring census takers.

Rails Start Assault on Working Rules

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The railroads today started an assault on rail labor work rules, which they claim are "rooted in the horse and buggy era of 40 and more years ago."

Daniel Loomis, president of the Assn. of American Railroads, was the railroad's spokesman. The controversy over work rules—which management says permit "featherbedding"—could tie up the nation's rail system in a strike this autumn.

Loomis called upon leaders of train operating brotherhoods to join with railroad management in asking President Eisenhower to name a nonpartisan group to study the roads work rules. He spoke at the annual meeting of the National Assn. of Shippers' Advisory Boards.

A three-year moratorium on changes in work rules is scheduled to expire Oct. 31. This moratorium agreement was signed in 1956 by rail brotherhoods and management.

Loomis defined featherbedding as pay for work not done, for services not performed, and said it cost the industry more than $60 million annually.

In Cleveland, Guy L. Brown, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said he just received Loomis' proposal and would give it serious consideration.

"For several years I have been of the opinion that many of the working rules on the railroads of the United States are, in effect, obsolete and are in need of revision," Brown said.

Brown said the matter probably would come up for discussion when the Railway Labor Executives Assn., comprising 23 rail unions—meets next week in Miami, Fla.

Bid Under Estimate for Greers Ferry

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A bid two million dollars below the government estimate was submitted yesterday on the first phase of construction of the $68 million dollar Greers Ferry Dam.

The Knudsen Co., Inc., of Boise, Idaho, Henry J. Kaiser Co. of San Francisco and Johnson, Drake and Piper Construction Co., Inc., of Minneapolis offered to do the work for $17,013,384. The government estimate was 19,066,196.

The joint bid was apparent low among 11 received by Army Engineers here for the project on the Little Red River near Heber Springs.

Bids were for construction of the main dam and the foundation for the power house for the combination flood control and hydro electric project.

The project is expected to be completed in about four years. Knudsen Co., jointly with another contractor, has just finished work on Table Rock Dam on the White River in Missouri, a short distance north of the Arkansas line. It also was a contractor on Norfolk Dam on the North Fork of the White in north Arkansas.

White House Denies Dulles Will Retire

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House denied with double-ulation that President Eisenhower might be concerned over a possibility that alling Secretary of State Dulles may retire.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower had instructed him to "say double" what Hagerty had told reporters Wednesday night—that rumors of Dulles' retirement are "completely unfounded."

Hagerty told a news conference that his designation of such reports as "cockeyed" can now be considered to be "doubled in spades."

Water Pollution Group to Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Water Pollution Commission will meet here Monday to decide whether to order three cities to build more sewage facilities.

Involved are the cities of El Dorado, Smackover and Stephens. At a commission hearing Jan. 27, representatives of the three cities said it would be a financial hardship if they were forced to construct additional facilities to dispose of waste now polluting the Ouachita River.

Commission Director M. L. Wood contended at the hearing that federal aid is available to help finance sewage treatment plants. He said the cities could put up 70 per cent of the cost and the government would provide the other 30 per cent.

Wood held that the cities were in the same position as oil field operators, who are under commission orders to stop emptying salt water into the Ouachita and its tributaries within five years.

Oil field operators are seeking a limited relief from severance taxes in order to get funds for constructing salt water disposal units.

Mann Called for Troops at Little Rock

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mayor Woodrow Wilson Mann of Little Rock, Ark., appealed to President Eisenhower for federal troops when mob violence blocked Central High Schools racial integration program in 1957, it was disclosed officially today.

In a telegram, Mann asked for the troops "within several hours," saying "situation is out of control and police cannot disperse the mob."

The text of the mayor's wire was included in a 7,500-word document released by the Justice Department.

The document was a communication which Herbert Brownell, then attorney general addressed to the President Nov. 7, 1957. Brownell last day in office, it summarized the legal advice which Brownell gave the White House, leading to the stationing of troops at the high school, and which will be published in full in a forthcoming new volume of "Opinions of the Attorney General."

When Eisenhower sent the troops to Little Rock Sept. 24, 1957, the question of whether Mann had asked for them was one which went unanswered in both Washington and Little Rock.

Three days later, the Justice Department denied in fact that it had had any telegram from Mann. "Technically this was true since the telegram had gone to Eisenhower."

Mann would neither confirm nor deny to reporters in Little Rock that he had requested troops.

Tornado Death Toll in St. Louis Climbs to 21

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The death toll from the tornado that hit the sleeping city with explosive force early Tuesday stood at 21 today. Officials said there is reason to hope it will go no higher.

Seventy injured remained in hospitals.

The extent of the havoc wrought by the twister in the teeming central portion of the city brought surprise that the loss of life was no greater.

"The reports on missing persons is a bit cloudy but we can't find out for sure that anybody's missing," said Bill Gen. Francis P. Hardaway (Ret.), Civil Defense director. "There are many conflicting reports."

Firemen resumed digging into wreckage of a three-story house where eight died at the corner of Whittier and Delmar.

The last of the 21 dead was identified as Mrs. Zula Brown, 42. Her husband, Fred, just barely got out of the collapsing structure with their son.

The emotion-packed scenes among relatives identifying their dead left officials at the city morgue shaken. "People just don't know what I've been through," said Dave Lamb, morgue superintendent.

Relief workers still are measuring dimensions of the misery inflicted by the twister. The Red Cross estimated 1,400 homeless in St. Louis and the county.

The Insurance Board of St. Louis said 4,000 buildings were damaged at a loss of 12 million dollars.

President Eisenhower declared the stricken city a disaster area, making it eligible for federal relief funds.

The tornado first touched down with minor damage in Brentwood, a West St. Louis suburb. "Then it cut a path across the southern corner of Forest Park. The worst destruction was in crowded Negro tenements on a path from the park to the vicinity of Busch Stadium, home of the St. Louis Cardinals. This area is a mile to two miles from downtown St. Louis."

Eight persons died when the tornado crushed a house at Whittier and Delmar.

There was also serious damage in the section of St. Louis known as "Greenwich Village" near the intersection of Boyle and Olive streets. In this area are many antique shops, apartments and taverns.

The tornado struck without warning and moved at tremendous speed. It took only minutes to blow itself out in the Bush Center of the city.

Teacher Is Convicted of Vice Charges

NEW YORK (AP)—Former schoolteacher Virginia McManus and a modern friend have been convicted on vice charges after a trial in Women's Court.

Miss McManus, 25 and blonde, and Mrs. Beatrice Garfield, 20, are being held in the Women's House of Detention pending sentencing Feb. 25.

The two women were found guilty Tuesday by Magistrate Hyman Bushel on charges stemming from their arrest in a police raid early last Friday on Mrs. Garfield's $350-a-month apartment.

Police said the apartment was the center of operation of 15 to 20 call girls who grossed about $400 each a night.

Miss McManus and Mrs. Garfield were found guilty of luring for the purposes of prostitution. Mrs. Garfield also was convicted of permitting her apartment to be used for prostitution. Her maximum sentence on either conviction is three years.

Miss McManus was acquitted on prostitution charges last October. Miss McManus represented herself as an accredited schoolteacher and a graduate literature student after she came here from Chicago. She got a part-time teaching job at a Brooklyn high school at $4,400 a year. She lost the job after her first arrest.

Cold May Have Stemmed Floods

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Sub-freezing temperatures appeared today to have stemmed the threat of new floods in northwestern Pennsylvania communities hit hard last month.

Most streams in the area held steady or crested below flood stage after rising swiftly Tuesday in the wake of heavy rains and spring-like temperatures.

However, the Shenango River at Sharon continued to inch higher early today and went slightly over the 10 1/2 foot flood stage. Several streets in low lying areas near the river were inundated, but no serious damage resulted.

3 Racketeers Won't Talk to Probers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three alleged racketeers refused at Senate Labor & Management Committee hearings today to discuss their involvement in the jukebox-coin machine industry.

The committee is attempting to show a giant conspiracy of underworld figures and labor union officials to control the multimillion dollar a year industry.

A barrage of Fifth Amendment pleas that answers might incriminate them came from coin machine operators John Vitale of St. Louis, Frank Zito of Springfield, Ill., and Mike Genovese of Chicago, Ill.

Committee counsel Robert P. Kennedy described them to their faces as racketeers with long criminal records. He said Vitale is "probably the leading figure of the Mafia" in the St. Louis area.

The Mafia has been described as an Italian secret criminal society which operates extensively in the underworld in the United States.

Zito and Genovese both refused to tell whether they had attended a meeting at Apalachin, N.Y., which police raiders called a criminal convention. Zito also refused to tell whether he knew anything about "the penalty levied on Mr. Lombard" who attended the meeting at Apalachin. Kennedy did not elaborate on that question.

Zito refused to tell anything about his dealing with two labor unionists, Joseph Gilmer of Teamsters Local 655 in Chicago and Fred Tom Smith, also known as Jukebox Smitty, of Chicago Local 134 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

The committee is looking into reports that gangsters have tried to force certain singers on the public. Kennedy says he expects to produce evidence that hoodlums have muscled into the jukebox record distributing firms with the idea of pushing these singers.

Although an overnight cold snap froze some backwaters, the Washington post expected heights lapping at the sandbags hastily stacked on Peris floodwall and levees.

The Red Cross estimated 530 families had been forced from their homes along the upper Wabash, from Buffton to Lafayette.

About 120 additional families fled in the Fort Wayne area from separate floods swelling up the St. Mary's and Maumee rivers from Monday's night's rains.

Floods Threaten Minnesota and Ohio Cities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The most violent weather of winter eased today but the damaging and crippling effects of the storms were far from erased in many parts of the eastern half of the country.

As storms ended or diminished in most areas, floods or threats of new overflows harassed much in a half dozen states.

In St. Louis, hit by a killer tornado, the huge job of cleaning up was one of the major problems. Another was the finding of new homes for the estimated 1,400 made homeless by the twister.

The tornado, striking early Tuesday, killed at least 21 persons. Seven others are missing. Of the estimated 300 persons injured, 70 remained in hospitals. One in critical condition. Some 4,000 buildings were reported damaged at a loss of 12 million dollars, by the Insurance Board of St. Louis.

In many other parts of the storm belt pounded by ice, snow, sleet and rain storms for more than two days, there were big jobs—restoring communications, clearing streets and highways and getting business, industry and schools back to normal.

Torridoes also hit areas in other parts of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky. Six persons were injured in Kentucky and five in Ohio. Many homes were damaged.

The floods in the northern half of Ohio and in the upper Wabash Valley in Indiana were the worst. Thousands have been forced from their homes. A state of emergency was in effect at Tindley and Van Wert, Ohio. The overflow in Indiana were the most damaging since 1943.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The worst floods in 16 years sent hundreds of families from their homes in the upper Wabash Valley today and closed roads throughout the area.

Volunteers joined with police and National Guardsmen to rescue stranded residents at Logansport, Ind., Georgetown, and Wabash.

Flood waters covered a 30-block residential area and an industrial area in Wabash. The city faced danger from ice moving down the Wabash River, threatening bridges and the waterworks.

A 10-mile ice jam has stacked up 35 feet high below Georgetown, near Logansport.

Broken water mains contaminated the water supply at Huntington. Health officials at Wabash asked residents to boil all drinking water.

The weather connected deaths have been reported. A farmer in southern Indiana was electrocuted when he touched a wire fence charged by a fallen power line. At Lafayette, a man died evidently from a heart attack while pushing his car from a flooded street.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The worst flood in 40 years began flooding at Wabash today, and the big battle against the "onrushing Wabash River in northern Indiana switched to sandbag and pumping crews in Peru, 14 miles downstream.

Although an overnight cold snap froze some backwaters, the Washington post expected heights lapping at the sandbags hastily stacked on Peris floodwall and levees.

The Red Cross estimated 530 families had been forced from their homes along the upper Wabash, from Buffton to Lafayette.

Bobcats in 3rd Spot, Watkins Is Top Scorer

The Hope Bobcats are looking up from third place in the Div. 4AA standings and hopeful of moving in on one of the top teams if they falter.

Last night the Bobcats edged the Texarkana Razorbacks 57 to 54. In a preliminary contest the Hope girls dropped a 44 to 42 decision to the Texarkana girls.

Both Smackover and Magnolia have each lost one game and the Bobcats have lost only two and are counting out their chances of still taking over a first place birth.

Brown, Russo in Title Go at Houston

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Explosive Joe Brown darts young Johnny Russo of New York to knock off his world lightweight crown tonight. Johnny says he's just the guy to do it.

That sums up Houston's little fight in nine months. There may be 10,000 out to see if aging one still has the durability to ward off youths charge.
Brown, 33, a campaigner for 13 years, meets a fellow who's been in the game less than half that long.
The slim little guy from Baton Rouge, La., battles Russo over the 16-round route starting at 10 p.m. EST with all the country except Houston able to see it on ABC television.
There was $40,000 in the till at the close of business Tuesday night and Texas. Boxing, enterprisers, promoters of the bout, think at least $20,000 should come in today. If $50,000 receipts will be about $100,000 since television is paying $40,000. That means Brown will take $40,000 and Russo $20,000.

Busso is confident he can wreck the Brown dynasty because he beat the champion in an over-weight fight in Miami in November. Brown says if he had only 15 he would have won. Busso counters that the longer it went the more decisively he would have won since he is stronger and younger. Johnny is only 24.
Brown's manager, Lou Viscusi, isn't sure Busso won't be weakened by having to take off weight for this fight since he thinks Busso is a "large lightweight" anyway.

Tallest Player to Remain at Gonaga

SPOKANE (AP)—Jean Claude (7-foot-3) Lefebvre yielded to last minute "we need you" pleas from teammates Tuesday and agreed to stay at Gonaga University after three first stringers were kicked off the squad.
Lefebvre, tallest collegian in American basketball, withdrew from Gonaga Monday, packed his bags, said his farewells and made reservations on a plane for his native France.
He said he was homesick, emotionally upset and had a feeling the first team rejected him because he got so much publicity and didn't score as much as people thought he should.
Four hours before plane time, things started popping as quick as the Gonaga fast-break ever did—the offense that reduced Lefebvre from a record-breaking 60-point performance last year to the role of a lumbering reserve who averaged 1.5 points a game.

aged less than 10 a game as a substitute this year.

First, three regulars and a top reserve were called on the carpet, accused of breaking training and dropped from the team.

Then the remnants, including Frank Burgess, Gonaga's leading scorer, marched to Lefebvre, urged him to stay and said they needed him.

To the dramatic department, it may have seemed like corral ball melodrama. But to the Gonaga public office, it was hectic reality and it left Coach Hank Anderson exhausted.

"What can I say," he sighed, "I've been knocked on my door and said he would stay for the good of the team. If I thought he could help now that we've lost the other four boys. My wife was ready to take him to the airport. But he can certainly help and I told him so. He has been re-enrolled and will start for us Sunday against Seattle University."

Legislators Take After ALC Members

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Internal affairs of the General Assembly held the spotlight as the Arkansas legislature opened its fifth week of activity yesterday.

The House received a drastic bill to reorganize membership on the Arkansas Legislative Council and the Senate was offered a bill to compel the council to hold open meetings.

The council, composed entirely of members of the Legislature, functions when the assembly is not in session and passes on state budgets and other matters.

Rep. Grover C. Carnes of Arkansas County and Rep. W. L. Ward of Lee County proposed in their House bill that no member of the council be permitted to serve more than two consecutive terms. Carnes said this would in effect wipe out the present membership of the group.

The bill won speedy approval of the Committee on Revision and Reorganization, which met last night.

This approval came after Rep. B. Murphy of Ashley County said the bill is aimed at breaking the power hold of Van Dalsen and other members of the old guard. He referred to Perry Rep. Paul Van Dalsen.

Sen. Dan White of Fort Smith introduced the open sessions bill which would amend Act 343 of 1953 to include the Legislative Council. "This act prohibits closed-door meetings by state boards and commissions," he said.

The Senate also took a slap at the State Parole Board apparently because some members of the upper chamber felt they had not been treated courteously by the board.

Fourteen routine appropriation bills were given quick approval by the senators but when the $75,000 annual budget bill for the Parole Board was called up, it was defeated.

Commented one senator: "Now let's see what they'll do without a budget."

And a new attempt to set up a guide system for the admission of indigent patients to the University Medical Center was introduced in the Senate. The author, Sen. Robert Harvey of Swifton, introduced similar legislation two years ago, but the bill later was declared unconstitutional by the Arkansas Supreme Court.

In the new bill, city and county officials would be permitted to determine which patients should be sent to the center for free care and for which the counties and cities would be billed. Harvey said he believed the proposal would be more acceptable to Little Rock, North Little Rock and Pulaski County, all of which opposed his earlier bill.

The Senate okayed a bill levying a tax of one-fourth cent per dozen on eggs to finance an inspection system and it passed, without debate or dissent, a 449-page bill recodifying the state insurance laws.

By a bare majority of 51 votes, the House approved a bill to permit sale of liquor on all election days except primary and general elections. The bill, sponsored by Rep. Marcus Howell of Phillips County, had been defeated last week and was called up on reconsideration.

The House also voted to establish a license fee of $250 for operators of amusement machines and stipulated that only licensed operators can be so licensed.

The House received another bill from Carnes which would prohibit any member of a public school board from holding another elective office. Also introduced was a proposal that would permit county boards to education to abolish the position of county supervisor and turn the duties of the office over to a secretary or the various school district superintendents.

Four Injured in Bus Accident

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Jose Greco and four members of his diner company — including Paul Haakon — were injured today when their chartered bus crashed into a ditch in a heavy fog.

The accident occurred four miles west of Jacksonville. Eight persons were aboard.

Greco and the four injured were taken to St. Vincent's Hospital. The 37-year-old dancer received a slight leg injury and facial scratches.

Also scratched about the face were Snokon, 48, New York City; Linda Latzke, 30, Buenos Aires; Maria Meridba Perez, 31, of Mexico; Snain; and Rogre Machado, 12, of Paris, France.

Military Building Totals $1.3 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department today asked Congress to authorize military construction costing $1,350 million.

Rep. Thomas J. Lane (D-Mass.) said the department's proposal also asks authorization for construction of 21,701 units of family housing for military personnel and dependents.

The new construction projects which would be authorized include 328 installations in 49 states and the District of Columbia; Hawaii, the Caribbean area, Europe, the Pacific Islands, Bermuda, Panama and Japan.

The new projects are divided between services as follows: Army: $319,200,000; Navy: $284,000,000; Air Force: $279,161,000; Army Reserve: $20,743,000; Army National Guard: $3,316,000; Navy and Marine Corp. Reserves: $3,200,000; Air Force Reserve: $4,083,000 and Air National Guard: $15,550,000.

XXVII

At a building in Malvern's corner, Sheriff Hyatt dismounted with slow care. He had been all day in the saddle and was thoroughly whipped with weariness. Pausing for a moment at the door to adjust the gun behind the short bar at the far end of the room, he moved up, leaned against this and let out a gusty sigh.

"You got any liquor, Nick, trot it out. Time was when my saddle and me, we got along fine together. But no more. Thing's changed into an instrument of torture."

Nick Malvern put bottle and glass on the bar. He was a tall man, lath thin, completely bald and with small, gimlet-sharp eyes, pinched in on either side of a great hungry bone of a nose.

"Ain't the saddle that has changed, Hyatt. It's you."

Hyatt, pouring himself a stiff jolt, downed it in one long gulp, twisting his lips and shuddering as the raw liquor hit bottom. He wiped his lips with the back of his hand, nodding.

"I sure didn't make the ride clear out here just for the fun of it. I'm looking for information."

Nick Malvern shook his egg-bare head. "I don't know a thing, Hyatt. Nothin' ever happens here. Them that come by, I don't bother, and they don't bother me; I sell them a little liquor, a few groceries, maybe."

Abruptly, a stern authority flowed out of Hyatt, and his tone sharpened.

"Men like you, Nick, are all alike. You all come up with the same answers in the same way. You don't know anything, you don't hear anything, you don't see anything. In short, accordin' to you, you go through life deaf, dumb, blind and helpless. Well, I quit believing that sort of guff a long time ago. You like your setup here?"

"It's a living," Malvern answered sullenly.

"And you'd like to stay?"

"Like to — and intend to!" A thread of defiance came into Malvern's words.

"Don't put your hopes on it," Hyatt said. "That is unless your memory improves. You see, Nick, its like this. In a bottom drawer of my desk, along with a number of others like it, there's a reward dodger concerning one Tulsa Slim. You know, it's amazing how exact the description fits you. The crime itself ain't much, though a lot of men have been hung for the same thing. A little argument over the true ownership of a horse. I guess the horse didn't amount to much, either, for the reward is almost an insult. Just $200, that's all. Hardly worth bothering with — unless —"

Hyatt turned up his hands and shrugged. "How's your memory coming?"

"Better," said Nick Malvern resignedly.

"Sure," said Hyatt soothingly. "I knew it would. You know, Nick, I'm not like some who are so self-righteous they'd wound a man down on any excuse. Just to show their authority. Way I see it is that if a man has made a mistake — not a serious mistake, you understand — and has learned his lesson, and from then on behaves himself pretty well, then there's no sense in beatin' him over the head and wasting good time and money trying to put him over the road. You and me, we can get along together. Nick, what do you know about the killing of Cress Lucas?"

"Cress Lucas! I thought that was a settled in court a year ago. You should know a lot more about it than me. You had a feller named Yeager behind bars for it."

"Yeager had nothing to do with it, which has since been proven. Nick Malvern stared at Hyatt fixedly. "You've changed."

"Yes, said Hyatt evenly. "I've changed. And I'm now ready to change a lot of things if I have to."

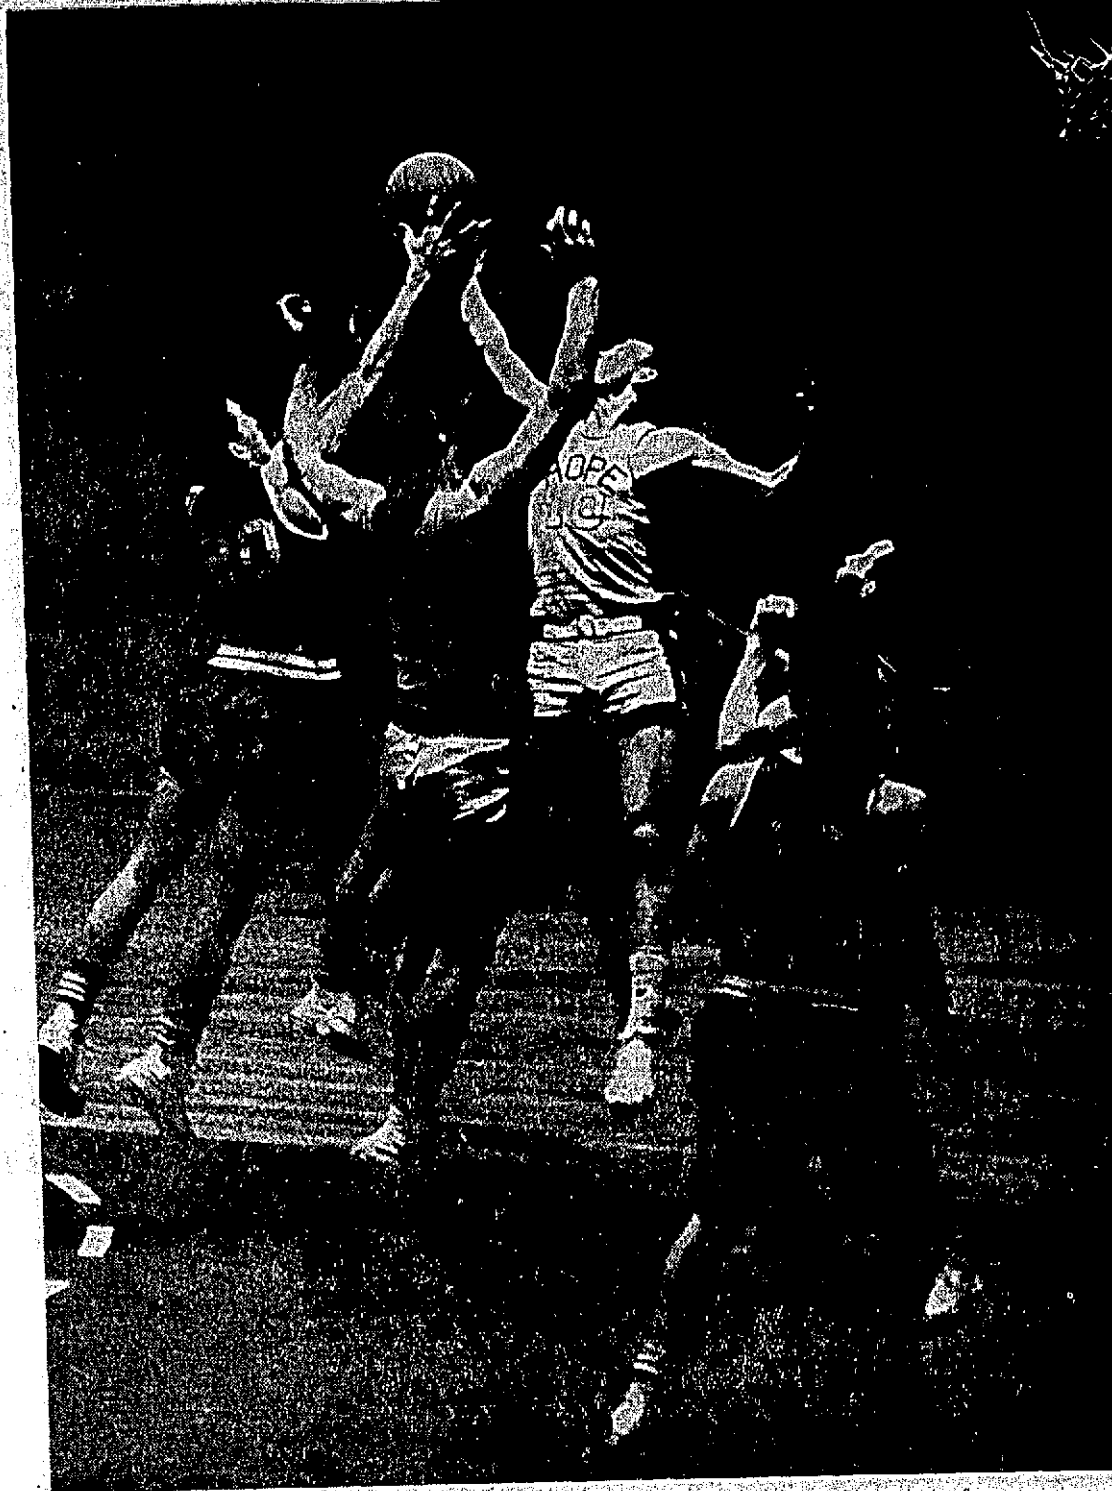

"I hear a little," admitted Nick Malvern cautiously. "Maybe not the direct facts, but rumors." He broke off to again stare at Hyatt in that fixed, wondering manner. "You really mean you got no idea at all who killed Lucas?"

"Of course not! If I did would I half cripple myself riding clear out here to ask questions of you? You know something. What is it?"

Malvern began carefully mopping down the bar again.

"Hyatt, I'm giving this to you straight. I know only what I've heard, and its second or third hand, so you can do your own digging on what it is really worth. Anyhow, here it is. There's a feller named Offerman — Tate

Hope-Texarkana Players Fight for Ball

ACTION SHOT taken last night in Jones Field House in basketball game between the Hope Bobcats and Texarkana Razorbacks shows a wild scramble for a rebound. Hope players in the picture are: Larry Vaughn, No. 10, who grabbed the rebound, and Terry Don Thurman, No. 44 with back to camera. Yorker players are: Giles, No. 20 on the left and Youngblood, No. 25, nearest to camera. The Bobcats won the game 57-54 with David Watkins getting 25 points, John Graves 15 and Bill Hair 10. Whitener scored 25 for the losers. Hope's senior girls lost to the Razorettes 44-42.

Offerman — who used to ride for that big land and cattle company down on the prairie. Whether he still does or not, I wouldn't know. Last I heard of him he was holdin' down a line camp for the combine somewhere over in the Redstone Hills. Now if you can locate him and get him to talk, then, according to rumor, he can tell you plenty about the Cress Lucas killing; not what he heard, but what he actually saw. There you have it. And, Nick Malvern ended with a stubborn finality, "that's all I know and all I'll say, regardless of what you do or don't do to me."

"For a man who had a temporary lapse of memory, that's pretty good," Hyatt said drily, amiable again. "When I get back to the office I'll tear up that Tulsa Slim dodger. Now let's have a drink together. After which I'll be interested in something to eat and a bed. I'll spend the night with you, Nick."

"Thanks," said Nick Malvern, setting another glass on the bar and reaching for the bottle.

"Thanks, I will have that drink, Hyatt — you sure have changed!" (To Be Continued)

LESABRE, the Buick

you can own for only $200 more than the best models of the leading low-priced cars...

This is in no way a "stripped" car you're looking at. Come in and study the manufacturer's suggested retail price of a Buick LeSabre like this, equipped with Twin Turbine automatic transmission, radio, heater, white sidewall tires, and anything else you want in your next car. Then do the same to the top models of the leading low-priced three, and you'll find the statement above stands up.

What a difference for only $200! Now think how much more you'll enjoy a Buick. A comfortable, substantially built automobile. A car with the finest ride in all Buick history. A car with Buick's exclusive fin-cooled brakes, and the smoothest type of transmission money can buy. A wonderfully quiet and greatly respected car!

Owners report QUALITY outstanding

Your money in a Buick today puts you in on the ground floor of what promises to be a long new time of leadership for Buick cars. "My sixth Buick and the best I ever owned!" "Best-operating car I've driven in thirty years!" "Much the best Buick yet!"

Reports like these mean extra pleasure in your Buick ownership... and they mean hard dollar value when the time comes to trade. It all adds up to the best proof in 50 years that: "WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK PEOPLE WILL BUILD THEM!"

New in gas economy, too!

In planning the '59 Buick, the new Wildcat engines, transmissions, and axles were all engineered to work together for greater gas mileage. Across the country owners tell us they are getting 15 to 20 miles per gallon in the '59 Buicks. And in a recent thorough test of Buick LeSabre against another car of comparable size and a good reputation for economy... the Buick won in every case under all kinds of driving conditions.

So we think we've got a new kind of value in this Buick LeSabre. And we suggest you go to your Quality Buick Dealer's and see whether you agree before you buy a new car.
